To whom it may concern:

I am pleased to offer this letter of recommendation on behalf of Mr. Christopher Fischer. Chris was a student of mine in the public relations, advertising and social media program at Point Park University. Chris is energetic, curious and possesses great potential for succeeding in a professional role such as this one.

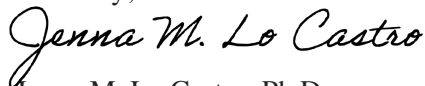

One of this individual's greatest strength lies in his curiosity for learning. Throughout the handful of years that I have had him in class, Chris has always been one of my most inquisitive students. It has become evident to me in our class discussions and personal conversations that he has the capacity to think deeply and critically about ideas. He is often able to see situations or problems differently, which makes him a remarkable asset in group work.

In addition, Chris possesses a welcoming disposition. He is always eager to invite new ideas and finds ways to improve upon suggested ones. What's commendable about Chris is that he's always willing to find solutions in even the most unique circumstances.

I believe this individual would be an excellent addition to your organization, as he provides a truly unique skillset that your employees would benefit from.

Should you have any further questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,
